Shadows of Evil Oct 03 2020 Claiming he'd been sent by God to confess, truck driver Wayne Adam Ford walked into the Humboldt County Sheriff's Office and admitted to them that he was a murderer. After police found a gruesome piece of evidence in Ford's pocket, he told them that he had to be stopped before he killed again, before he murdered his ex-wife, and made his beloved three-year-old orphan. Authorities arrested the long-haul trucker and listened in horror to his startling confession... Ford was a long-distance trucker who had traveled fourteen western states. Prowling the roads in his big rig tractor-trailer, he picked up young, vulnerable women and then raped, killed, and dismembered them. He scattered some of their bodies in waterways along the road. He kept parts of their bodies in the freezer of his trailer home. Learn the shocking truth in Shadows of Evil-a chilling account of madness, depravity, and murder...

Contemporary Financial Intermediation Mar 29 2022 Contemporary Financial Intermediation, Second Edition, brings a unique analytical approach to the subject of banks and banking. This completely revised and updated edition expands the scope of the typical bank management course by addressing all types of deposit-type financial institutions, and by explaining the why of intermediation, not simply describing institutions, regulations, and market phenomena. This analytic approach strikes at the heart of financial intermediation by explaining why financial intermediaries exist and how they do. Specific regulations, economies, and policies will change, but the underlying philosophical foundations remain the same. This approach enables students to understand the foundational concepts and to apply them to whatever context they encounter as professionals. This book is the perfect liaison between the microeconomics realm of information economics and the real world of banking and financial intermediation. This book is recommended for advanced undergraduates and MSc in Finance students with courses on commercial bank management, banking, money and banking, and financial economics. Completely updated edition of a classic banking text Authored by experts on financial intermediation theory, only textbook that takes this approach situating banks within the context of economic theory

Urban Food Production for Ecosocialism Sep 10 2020 This book explores the critical role of urban food production in strengthening communities and in building ecosocialism. It integrates theory and practice, drawing on several local case studies from seven countries across four continents: China, Cuba, Ghana, Italy, Tanzania, the UK, and the US. Research shows that the term "urban agriculture" overstates the limited food-growing potential in cities due to a shortage of land required for growing grains, the basic human food staple. For this reason, the book suggests "urban cultivation" as a more appropriate term which indicates social and political progress achieved through combined labours of urbanites to produce food. It examines how these collaborative food-growing efforts build social capital, foster community organisation, and create ecological awareness in order to promote urban food production while also ensuring environmental sustainability. This book illustrates how urban cultivation constitutes a potentially important aspect of urban ecosystems, as well as offers solutions to current environmental problems. It recentres attention to the global South and offers alternative narratives, challenging capitalist commercial food-growing regimes and encouraging ecosocialist food-growing practices. Written in an accessible style, this book is recommended reading for an emergent issue which will interest students and scholars of environmental studies, geography, sociology, urban studies, politics, and economics.

The chapter authors are among the leading contributors to demographic scholarship over the past four decades. They represent a wide range of disciplines and theoretical perspectives as well as interests in both basic and applied research.

The British National Bibliography Mar 05 2020
Body Part Jul 21 2021 The bestselling author delves into the twisted crimes of Wayne Adam Ford. "This kind of frightening and fascinating glimpse into a killer's mind is rare." —Ron Francis, New York Times-bestselling author On a chilly November afternoon in 1998, a tearful 36-year-old man walked into the Humboldt County Sheriff's Department in Eureka, California, and confessed to something horrible. "I hurt some people," he said. Inside his pocket was the ghastly proof of his statement. But there was more to Wayne Adam Ford than the trail of mangled victims he left behind. Even more chilling than the twisted predator inside, which drove him to increasingly perverse sexual appetites, Pulitzer Prize-nominated author Caitlin Rother draws on previously sealed testimony, interviews, and key players in the case, and the killer's shocking confession to explore the demons that drove a damaged man to his unspeakable crimes. Her book is a harrowing psychological portrait and an unforgettable true-life thriller. Includes dramatic photos "Page-turning excitement and blood-curdling terror . . . Riveting, fast-paced, and sure to keep you up at night." —M. William Phelps, New York Times-bestselling author "Shocking, chilling, fast-paced . . . A book crime aficionados will be loath to put down." —Simon Read, author of The Iron Sea "Rother has produced a superior study of a killer and his lost and lonely victims." —Carol Anne Davis, author of Couples Who Kill "A must-read . . . Well-written, extremely intense; a book that I could not put down." —True Crime Books
